Description: The goal of this training course is to provide experienced medical interpreters with knowledge and skills specific to the delivery of effective, reliable, and comprehensive interpreting in mental health settings. The curriculum outlines a theoretical and practical understanding of the multiple roles of the interpreter as well as relevant clinical, ethical, cultural, and linguistic considerations in the behavioral health field. Additionally, the curriculum will enhance the medical interpreters' ability to understand and render culturally responsive communication through practice exercises.

Objectives: Medical interpreters participating in this training program will:

1. Increase understanding of mental health related issues, common psychological disorders and types of treatments.
2. Enhance skills to work in mental health settings.
3. Apply the roles of the medical interpreter (i.e., conduit, message clarifier, cultural broker, patient advocate) in mental health settings.
4. Acquire and utilize mental health related terminology and vocabulary in English and Spanish.
5. Increase understanding in the triadic encounter across various mental health settings.

6. Function effectively as an integral member of the mental health multidisciplinary treatment team as demonstrated by in-class role plays and group exercises.
